Boost in county tax is authorized

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

A seven-cent tax hike, from 51 cents per $100 assessed valuation to 58 cents, was approved by the Madison County Board Wednesday during a meeting nearly four hours long in which board members argued over specific appropriations which the budget committee said it had "trimmed to the bone."

In its final vote, the board approved an overall appropriation for all county purposes of $19,130,238. This was an increase of $112,000 over the $18,918,238 budget first submitted by the finance committee when the meeting opened, and was an increase of $6,447,500 over the 1975 budget of $12,682,732.

While 46 cents of the rate levied for special tax funds, including a new working cash fund requiring a rate of 2.5 cent per $100 assessed valuation—the majority of the board's action Wednesday was attempting to keep the general fund levy below the 12-cent legal maximum rate. That effort proved to be a losing one as additions pushed the budget to the 12-cent mark.

In his budget message to the board, J. J. Gramlich, chairman of the finance committee, started the meeting with predictions that the tax levy for the general fund would be 10 1/2 to 11 cents, depending upon the county's assessed valuation.

He noted that an $18,918,238 budget for all county purposes should be supported by a total tax levy of $5,745,016, including $1,109,257 for the general fund, with the remainder to be raised through income other than taxes.

The board took a hard-line stand against all requests for additional funds for all departments, until board member William B. Webb of Granite City noted $112,000 had been cut at the last minute from salaries at the nursing home.

"If you do this, you are going to kick old people out," Webb predicted.

After lengthy discussion in which Webb and Michael Pellegrin of Collinsville said the cut was going to force the nursing home to dismiss employees and place itself in jeopardy of losing federal and state grants, the board voted 15 to 12 in favor of restoring the $112,000.

Madison County Auditor John Kravack commented after the added $112,000 pushed the general fund budget from $1,109,257 to a new total of

$1,221,257. "We can't raise that much with a 12-cent rate limit. We are all out of blance."

The vote on the nursing home issue came after the board members refused to reinstate $11,000 trimmed from the park land acquisition fund, refused again to reinstate $5,000 of the park money, stood firm in favor of a proposal to reduce the pay of jurors from $10 per day to $5 per day, refused to enter $10,000 in the budget to continue the animal spray-neuter program and stopped efforts to reinstate $12,137 cut from salaries at the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home.

An attempt by Daniel Partney of Granite City to change the method by which county board members are paid—from a per diem and expenses to straight monthly salary, also failed as the Madison County state's (Continued on Page 4)

2 die in Rt. 203 crash

Antonio Aguirre, 26, of 1223 Twenty-second St., and Thomas Pacheco, 24, of Fairmont City, were fatally injured at 9:05 p.m. Sunday when Pacheco's car left Route 203 at the southbound

Progress on sewer fees

Progress is being made in collecting Granite City sewer fees, City Treasurer Paul E. Rutledge, reported today.

"As you know, there have been complaints by people I have sued. They have said that the amount owed was small compared to the B. C. Gitchie bill" discussed by the City Council this fall, Rutledge told the Press-Record.

"I agree. However, they did owe the money. I have attempted to collect the delinquencies in the Nameoki Area Sewer District first, because the outstanding bonds in this issue can be paid off Sept. 1, 1976, if the money is available.

"I first filed suit against Mr. Gitchie in December 1971. However, these cases have never come to trial.

"The suits I file are set for hearing by the court system, and not by the city, as some people think.

Training of 'crime blockers' is begun

A Crime Blocker Program is being developed by Quad-City police departments in cooperation with the Crime Prevention and Control Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Classes in conjunction with the program have been started for senior citizens by Officer Friendly, Glenn Wright of the Granite City police, it was noted at a meeting of the committee last week.

Committee Chairman Warren Decatur and members agreed to join in explaining the program to fraternal, church and civic organizations.

Goal is to reduce crime, particularly home burglaries, in the Quad-City area.

As explained at the meeting, "A crime blocker is a concerned citizen who observes suspicious activities or emergency situations and gives that information to his police department."

"Every citizen can be a crime blocker."

"All who are interested may volunteer by submitting their name and address to the police. Cards will be issued, containing the individual's confidential number."

"When a crime blocker reports a suspicious activity or tells of an emergency occurrence, he will call a special line and supply his crime blocker number along with reporting the possible crime or mishap."

"The police will not disclose the identity of the crime blockers."

"Those calling will stay on the telephone long enough to make sure that the answering officer has had an opportunity to pin down the location and type of incident."

Addressing the public, a spokesman said, "you will be a committee of one who is watching one or two houses on either side of you."

"You should familiarize yourself with your neighbor's activities so you will know when there is a stranger present who may be suspect and, of course, your neighbor will be doing the same for you when you are away from home."

"Our security is dependent upon our fellow citizens. No police department can effectively protect lives and property without the support of the citizens it serves. If you are to be protected, then you must protect. It is a matter of cooperation all the way."

"The Crime Blocker Program establishes a formal network for citizens reporting to area law enforcement agencies. Criminals can't and won't operate in areas where citizens are alert."

"You will need training before you can effectively participate and help the police department."

"There is responsibility, and this is why citizens will need special training."

"A two-week course will be conducted by a well-trained (Continued on Page 3)

Film city records

A plan to put on microfilm all city records of the Police Department, city treasurer's office and the city clerk's office was authorized by the Granite City Council last week.

The program was recommended by Alderman Ronald Coleman of the Seventh Ward, chairman of the council's Finance Committee, who said that storage space for records in these departments is exhausted and that the microfilm plan would solve the problem.

Council members voted unanimously to spend a total of $13,765 for equipment necessary to initiate the new system. Coleman explained that the equipment would be purchased on bids already made to the state.

Competition for endorsements

A four-way bid for endorsement by the Madison County Democratic Central Committee for two state representative posts in the 56th Legislative District marked a series of screening appearances Friday and Saturday by potential candidates in the March to primary election.

The possibility of opposition for the office of circuit clerk also was indicated when Incumbent Circuit Clerk Willard "Butch" Portell, who is seeking re-election, and Floyd David Moss, mayor of Ponton Beach, appeared before the screening committee to seek its endorsement for the circuit clerk candidacy.

In all, 18 persons, most of them incumbent Democratic officeholders, appeared before the 15-man screening committee, which is to endorse a slate of candidates later this week. The primary filing period will open Dec. 8 and continue through Dec. 15.

The endorsements, it was learned, will be announced in a meeting of the Democratic Committee's executive board beginning at 7 p.m. Friday in Charlie's Restaurant.

Seeking endorsement for the 56th District representative posts during screening sessions Friday night were incumbent State Rep. Joe Lucero of Edwardsville, and Don Dreith of Alton, incumbent State Rep. Sam W. Wolf of Granite City appeared before the screening committee Saturday morning, as did Jim McPhee of Alton.

All incumbent Democratic officeholders have announced they will seek re-election and all of them appeared before the county committee's screening unit at the Holiday Inn at Sunset Hill in either the Friday night or Saturday morning session.

The screening committee did not schedule hearings for candidates to Madison County Board posts which will be open to election in the Quad-City area in District 22, Herbert Milton, incumbent, District 23, Jay Maurer, incumbent, District 24, Arthur "Cooper" Moore, incumbent, and District 25, Homer Boothman, incumbent.

Boothman is expected to be opposed in the County Board race by Joe Boyer of State Park Place, who has obtained nominating petitions at the county clerk's office in Granite City.

Also obtaining petition forms at the county clerk's office is Gary Novich as a candidate opposing the re-election of Milton in District 24 (Madison).

Two candidates for state's attorney endorsements also appeared before the screening (Continued on Page 15)

BUILT-IN OBSTACLE is this utility pole cemented into a newly built sidewalk in the 2000 block of St. Clair Avenue. Alderman Gerald Farnley of the Sixth Ward in which the new walk is located, said the pole was left in the easement because it would have cost $500 to $600 to change its location. The budget for the project would not permit the additional cost, he said.

Robert W. Proctor, 23, St. Louis, faces six charges after he was arrested at 11:40 p.m. Sunday outside Rico's II Lounge on Nameoki Road. Police were called on a report of a man with a club refusing to let patrons leave the establishment. They alleged finding Proctor near the door of the lounge with a pair of "knuck-chucks," two boards connected with rope on a chain.

Officials of the lounge said a man had been ejected after a disturbance in the lounge and the man had obtained knuck-chucks from a car and had beaten on a parked car belonging to one of the bouncers in the lounge.

The man returned inside and another disturbance ensued. He again was ejected and officials alleged he refused to allow anyone to leave the establishment.

At the police station, officers alleged finding a plastic bag containing cannabis in Proctor's right sock. He was charged with unlawful use of a weapon, possession of cannabis, criminal damage to property, disorderly conduct and two counts of battery.

Snow, heavy rain hit area

The first winter storm of the season brought a distant memory today—brought seven inches of snow to the Quad-City area Wednesday, snarling traffic on icy, snow-packed roads and causing a rash of minor accidents, most of them on state highways.

Snow began falling in mid-morning, increasing in volume throughout the afternoon to create driving hazards for motorists during the evening rush hour.

Bumper-to-bumper lines of traffic developed in the Nameoki area, while on the highways throughout the region traffic was slowed to a crawl, and sometimes halted entirely, on road-slick hills and overpass approaches.

Some motorists reported taking one to two hours to reach their homes. Weather conditions caused many persons to cancel trips planned for the Thanksgiving Day holiday.

Hundreds of persons were stranded at Lambert Airport when incoming flights were canceled for several hours because of snow and fog.

Weather records at the Chain of Rocks Locks showed a total snowfall of seven inches, equivalent to a fraction of an inch of rain.

State highway and city street crews began spreading salt and operating snowplows shortly after the snowfall began, contributing to a rapid melting of snow and ice on major highways and main thoroughfares.

State police, however, said they were flooded with calls to accidents on highways throughout the area, virtually all of them of minor nature with no injuries involved.

One officer at the district police headquarters at Maryville reported the troopers were so swamped with accident reports that they still hadn't sorted them out Friday morning.

Many snowmen were built, the largest reported snowman measuring nine feet tall. It was built by the William Handfield family near Arlington Heights.

Wednesday's snowstorm was followed Saturday night by a rainstorm that brought 40 of an inch of rain within a few hours. The rainfall was accompanied by high-gusting winds, but no major damage was reported.

The rain brought to 1.35 inches the total precipitation for November, or 1.22 inches below the November normal of 2.57 inches.

It was the third consecutive month in which total rainfall fell well below the normal for the month. October had total precipitation of .59 of an inch, compared to a normal of 2.96 inches, and in September only .92 of an inch of rain fell, compared to a normal of 2.76 inches.

Precipitation last month brought to 28.39 inches the total rainfall for the 11 months of the year, or 3.08 inches below the normal of 31.48 inches for the 11 months.

Frank Prater dies at 80

Frank J. Prater, 80, of 139 E. Euclid St., Sullivan, Mo., formerly of Granite City, died at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the Sullivan Community Hospital.

He was born in Copperhill, Mo., and resided in this area for many years before moving to Sullivan.

A member of the Presbyterian Church in Owensville, Mo., he also belonged to Masonic Lodge 877 and VFW Post 1300, both of Granite City, and the American Legion Post in Bay, Mo.

Mr. Prater retired at Union Electric Co. where he was employed as a consulting engineer.

Survivors include his wife, Lucy Prater; one son, Dick Prater of Winfield, Mo.; a stepson, John Baker of Granite City; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Virginia Mathias of Sullivan and Mrs. Opal Rohrer, Bourbon, Mo.; three sisters, Mrs. Ina Kulemeyer, Mount Sterling, Mo.; Mrs. Martha Crates, Belle, Mo.; and Lola Owens, Linn, Mo.; a half-brother, Hudson Owen of Mount Sterling; 10 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

police officer. Any crime blocker abusing the privilege will be dismissed from the program.

"Only emergency calls are to be directed to the number given the crime blocker by the police department. Non-emergency problems such as sanitation, stolen license plates, etc., are to be called in the normal way and not with crime blocker identification.

"Officials of law enforcement agencies will have a list of crime blockers. The officer assigned to the complaint will not know the name.

"In this way, the crime blocker can remain anonymous, so there should be no need for any crime blocker to hesitate in calling in an emergency, strangers loitering, gangs roaming in alleys, etc. Any situation that would indicate a burglary is in progress or about to be perpetrated also will be reported.

"Burglary is not to be confused with robbery. Burglary is forcible entry into a residence or business. Robbery is taking personal property in the possession of another from his person in his presence, against his will.

"When you call your police department to volunteer, a brochure will be mailed to you to give complete instructions.

"It is the hope of the committee and all police departments that concerned citizens in the entire area will call to secure a confidential crime blocker number, and agree to take the training.

"If everyone cooperates, an all-out drive can be made to eradicate burglary and other crime in our area.

"Follow-up meetings will be held each month to determine how the program is working.

"But police do know that — since they started working with groups of senior citizens — they have reduced crimes in the areas they are covering.

"The immediate job now is to spread the word, get citizens involved in every block in every area, and let would-be burglars and robbers beware.

"This is a program with teeth and determination, and it should be started by the holiday season, when crimes are at a peak," the spokesman concluded.

Guests at the committee meeting included Lt. Col. George Teller and Officer Friendly of the Granite City department, Don Bridick, juvenile officer, Madison police, the Rev. Gene Stevenson, vice-president of the Quad-Cities Ministerial Alliance, and students Tami Eck, Venice, Harold Williams, Madison, and Joe Hassler Jr., Granite City.

The students offered their comments regarding crime and methods of prevention.

Mitchell burglary

Items valued at about $985 were stolen from the home of John Cuvor Jr., Rural Route Two, Box 905, West Chain of Rocks Road, Mitchell, between noon and 6 p.m. Thursday. Madison County sheriff's deputies were told.

Entry was gained by kicking open the south rear door and the front door was believed used to leave the home. Reported stolen were a shotgun, an electric sweeper, a tape player, a pistol, binoculars, a camera, a jump suit and a calculator.

record now on file in city vaults, one to be placed in active files and the other to be stored permanently, Coleman said.

A "Recordak" film viewer would permit the reading of microfilm records and that equipment also can produce copies of the filmed document, he said.

Under the cost schedule offered by Coleman, the Recordak machine will cost $2,056, an image control keyboard will cost $5,335 and a Micro-Star reading unit will cost $4,767. The balance of the total cost would pay for supplies.

In other action, council members enacted a series of ordinances for traffic controls, including the repeal of two traffic stops, no-parking regulations and a 15-minute parking limit.

Stop signs were ordered removed at Circle Drive and 26th Place for traffic entering 26th Place, and at 27th and Adams streets for traffic entering 27th Street.

Another ordinance bans parking on the north side of Bradley Court between Colgate Avenue and Fehling Road; on the west side of Fehling for 30 feet north from Bradley Court, and on the south side of Bradley Court 80 feet westerly from Fehling.

A 15-minute parking limit was established on the north side of 29th Street westerly from Iowa Street for 80 feet, and on the west side of Iowa Street north from 29th for 40 feet.

The aldermen also decided to take no action toward improvement of 27th Street in the vicinity of Circle Drive to provide additional ingress and egress for trucks operated by Reeves Concrete Co.

The city was ordered in a circuit court ruling earlier this year to notify the court by Dec. 5 if it plans to improve 27th Street to accommodate truck traffic so that the trucks could use 27th Street instead of Circle Drive, which now imposes a load limit.

The court provided that if the city failed to improve 27th Street, or give notice of its intentions to do so, the load limit on Circle Drive automatically would be removed by the court order. Council members agreed that the load limit signs may be removed.

Revise food stamp value, eligibility

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) last week adopted new regulations for determining food stamp allotments, and revised coupon requirements and maximum income eligibility standards, effective Jan. 1.

On Jan. 1, the amount of coupons allotted for a four-person household will be increased from $162 to $166 a month, with adjustments for other household sizes in line with revised economies of scale. The maximum income eligibility level for a family of four will rise from $540 to $553 per month.

A total of 1,958 responses was received by USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) in response to its invitation for interested parties to comment on three alternative proposals to revise coupon allotments in the food stamp program, all based on USDA's thrifty food plan.

Responses received through the end of the comment period Nov. 13 expressed over 5,200 comments. More than 3,900 indicated acceptance of Proposal III, which provides a uniform allotment and eligibility standard schedule, much like the one presently in use.

The uniform allotment is based on the value of food required to feed a family of four persons consisting of a man and woman aged 20 through 54, a child aged six through eight, and a child aged 9-11.

The cost of the diet for this four-person household is the basis for uniform coupon allotments for all households, except for household size adjustments and adjustments that reflect the economies of scale set forth in the thrifty food plan developed by USDA's Agricultural Research Service (ARS).

The revised economies of scale developed by ARS are more generous for households of six or more persons than those used formerly in all the USDA food plans. Economies of scale are unchanged for households of five persons and less.

The Food Stamp Act, as amended, directs that coupon allotments be adjusted twice a year to reflect changes in food prices as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Cost of the food plan in August 1975—the month which sets the January-June 1976 schedule—was $166 for a family of four with school children.

Maximum income eligibility standards, effective Jan. 1, 1976, are:

One-person household,	$215.
Two-person household,	$307.
Three-person household,	$433.
Four-person household,	$553.
Five-person household,	$660.
Six-person household,	$787.
Seven-person household,	$873.
Eight-person household,	$993.

For each additional household member over eight, $127 is added to the eight-person level.

County tax

most county departments, while only a few received increases that were "absolutely necessary."

He said it will be up to the heads of each county department to determine how the money will be saved, but it has been estimated that about 10 percent of every employee could lose their jobs, including a reduction of about 12 in the sheriff's department.

Overall, the sheriff's department is receiving $45,322 more than it received in the previous year, but that is not expected to be enough to accommodate higher wages now being negotiated, as well as higher operating costs and needed equipment.

The board approved a $139,404 increase in the sheriff's appropriations in county funds. From $185,150 last year to $324,554 in the new budget, but the amount budgeted in federal and state sharing funds drops $93,882, from $933,042 last year to $839,160 in the new fiscal year.

That was one of the departments granted higher total budgets in the new departmental budget.

Other exceptions showing budgets on the plus side include the personnel department jobs, the budget increased $400,726 to $632,026 to pay for raises being negotiated; the board of review which was upped $1,485 to $32,945; the coroner's office where the budget was increased $6,049 to $53,685; the license department which was increased by $226 to $14,643; and Central Services which went up $4,328 to $138,826.

Also increased from last year's budget were the appropriations of the Jury Commission, up $2,913 to $26,333; the Public Defender's Office, up $3,292 to $121,937; the county veterinarian, up $50 to $8,380; the County Nursing Home, up $20,775 to $747,564 by special board action reinstating $112,000 in salary cuts; the Shelter Care Home, up $15,260 to $245,928; the voting machine fund, up $34,190 to $37,890; voter registration, up $37,100 to $80,700; building and zoning, up $8,121 to $131,062; and weed control, a new $2,500 appropriation.

The only other budget increases from the general fund were in the parks and recreation department, which was increased $1,750 from last year's $73,735; the police merit board, up $92 to $2,125; and the delinquent tax real estate department, $25,628, and the Legislative Department, $7,100, both new appropriations which were not separate last year.

Increases under special taxes included the county highway department, up $52,484 to $1,062,720; county bridge fund, up $4,000 to $720,000; the retirement fund, up $100,000 to $1,000,000; the audit fund, up $200 to $21,200; the maps & plats section, up $46,278 to $141,229; and election expenses, which doubled from $100,000 to $200,000.

Drastic cuts were taken in all other departments. Some of the larger cuts included the county board, cut $34,344 from last year's appropriation to $218,956 this year; the budget for studies, cut $20,630 to $43,076; the county clerk's office, cut in general funds $17,414 to $205,596; the treasurer and public collector's cut $15,824 to $159,310; and the treasurer's tax collection account, down $25,697 to $17,553.

The circuit court took a $76,421 cut under the revenue account to a new appropriation of $45,510, and a $144,084 cut under public safety accounts to $300,216.

The probation office budget was trimmed $22,684 from last year to $195,161; the state's attorney's budget dropped $43,807 to $801,566; the health and welfare account for dependent children cut $60,800 to $120,200; and the elections account in the general fund was trimmed $58,600 to $73,600.

Contingencies were held at $227,000, down $140,400 from last year's $368,000, which brought a stern warning from the county's finance committee that all department heads and the county board will have to watch spending carefully to keep departments from exceeding their budgets.

It was noted that government funds can put up to five per cent of their total general fund budgets into contingencies, but, "to lower the burden of the contingencies were held to 3.16 per cent in this budget," the finance committee reported.

Nearly every category under federal revenue sharing took a cut in the new budget with the 1976 appropriation of last year for data processing eliminated; the Veterans' Assistance Commission decreased $23,943 to $146,495; the County Museum appropriation down $387 to $22,675; the detention home reduced $12,662 to $253,737; the detention home bond and interest fund decreased $1,750 to $22,180; and mental health down $97,072 to $20,146.

Other major decreases included a $127,477 decrease in the special tax account for the supervisor of assessments to $168,113 and $1,381 drop in the special tax account for the county's tuberculosis account to $270,989.

In his budget message, J. J. Gramlich of Highland, finance committee chairman, noted, "We are in hard financial times, but we are not alone. . . . Our friends and neighbors are either jobless or their incomes restricted seriously."

"They are working with what they have. They are living with what they have, and we are going to do the same."

Gramlich made five recommendations to help the county get through the present financial crisis, which is expected to continue for at least one more year after 1975-76 fiscal year, "and possibly for many years to come."

His first recommendation was to continue support from every citizen and official for continuing the federal revenue sharing program, "in light of the inflationary spiral beyond our control."

Second, he recommended, "State government either keep its nose out of our business or provide revenues to compensate us for their regulations. Examples included demands for a new county jail, forced reassessment to 33.3 per cent, and state-mandated raises in state salaries which will cost the county about $100,000 this year."

Other state regulations cited included required medical examinations of bodies after many more types of deaths, decreased state funding for mental health programs which must be compensated for by higher county spending, increased regulations at the nursing home, and a prescribed rate for taking care of public aid patients (termed by some board members as "subsidy" per year the county makes for the state).

"In view of the depressed economy, we can not help but feel the state is unrealistic in these regulatory applications. We certainly hope the governor will see these problems promptly," he stated.

Gramlich's third recommendation was that six county departments be examined, "with emphasis on possible reductions in expenditures."

Suggested for study were the nursing home, the shelter care department, the delinquent tax department, the public defender's office, the purchasing department and the data processing department.

The fourth recommendation was that all county board committees maintain control over all 1975-76 financial allocations.

The fifth recommendation was that no new hirings be allowed in the county and that attrition be allowed to reduce the work force by retirements and resignations.

Gramlich said the finance committee realizes that the new budget will have serious impacts on all departments. He said an administrative "audit" will be required at all levels to keep the level of county revenues at their proper levels, or "We will compound our problems drastically."

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By Milton Mathews

Here's a football fact that's hard to believe, but it's true . . . Remember that famous pro championship game in 1940 when the Chicago Bears beat the Washington Redskins 73-0? . . . Well, although the Redskins lost by 73 points, they actually made MORE FIRST DOWNS than the Bears did that day! . . . It seems impossible — but here are the official totals: The Bears had 17 first downs in that game, and the Redskins 18!

What was the longest field goal ever kicked in a football game? . . . The record was set by Jim Huxall of Princeton in a game in 1882 when he kicked a 65-yard field goal. . . You'd think in all the years since then somebody would have broken that record, but no one ever has.

How well do you know your football rules? Here's a little puzzle for you . . . Suppose a forward pass is tried and a player from each of the offensive and defensive team collide and both catch the ball together . . . They fall to the ground, each holding the ball and each having equal possession . . . What's the ruling? . . . The official rules say in a situation like this, the ball belongs to the offense and the spot of the catch, and is considered a completed pass.

High schools urged to teach responsibility

State School Supt. Joseph M. Cronin last week proposed a high school curriculum emphasizing a fourth "R"—responsibility.

The state's chief school officer detailed the proposal in a speech before a joint conference of the Illinois Association of School Boards and Illinois Association of School Administrators, at the Palmer House in Chicago.

His speech also pointed to the record of the State Board of Education in seeking to fulfill its responsibility for state policy leadership for elementary and secondary education.

Dr. Cronin said his suggested "responsibility curriculum" wouldn't be a new course or a mandatory program, but a dramatic new emphasis in secondary schools on fostering "an awareness of what one must do to earn full citizenship and to contribute fully to our civilization."

"State and national assessments of education force us to examine our effectiveness in training citizens," according to the state superintendent. The last five national studies, he noted, have concluded that a missing ingredient is responsibility.

He said the studies show that fewer than 20 per cent of voters know who their congressman or state legislators are, most citizens don't know where to find the Bill of Rights, one of three adults fails to vote in national elections, the percentage of families providing health exams and polio shots for their children has declined, and the high school drop-out rate has increased slightly.

Dr. Cronin said that although Illinois youths score higher than either the national or Midwestern averages on scholastic aptitude tests, he hears complaints about the "economic illiteracy" of the state's young people.

The traditional three "R's"—reading, writing and arithmetic—should come first, he said, but the fourth "R" can provide a "heightened sense of responsibility—economic, political and societal—a new sense of values and a new set of skills."

He said Illinois already requires some components of a responsibility curriculum, such as consumer education, health and safety education and conservation education.

"I would like to see more secondary schools try out several voluntary components," he added. Among the elements Supt. Cronin suggested for a responsibility curriculum were a high school executive internship program; greater stress, including work experiences, on the economic aspects of social studies and business education.

Also, law-focused study, particularly basic learning about the legal system, the elements of justice and actual cases; and community education, especially service by young people with agencies dealing directly with the public.

He said the State Board of Education is committed to "helping define what responsibilities students should learn, and the Illinois Office of Education will help provide funds to pilot test a model curriculum."

In discussing the responsibility assigned to the state board last January for educational policy-making in Illinois, Dr. Cronin cited 21 priorities set forth by the board, as one example of its performance.

The goals were established to guide the Illinois Office of Education staff and local schools, according to the superintendent.

Many were predictable, he said, such as a concern for basic skills and for vocational and special education. "But the intensity of concern for equality of opportunity and for racial justice especially is one of the major characteristics of this board," he added.

In addition to formulating the goals, he said the board has directed him to improve services to local districts by establishing new field offices in Urbana and DeKalb and staffing them with technical assistance teams, effective Dec. 1.

The state education agency already operates regional offices in Chicago and Mt. Vernon.

Another policy position of the board states its preference for achieving quality in existing educational programs rather than mandating a quantity of new programs.

"For example," Dr. Cronin told the educational organizations, "the state board will not mandate early childhood education for all children, although several of us are interested in ideas for parental education."

"Quality means conversion to the metric system even before the U.S. Congress recognizes the inevitable. Quality means a concern about bilingual children even before the new state law takes effect."

He said that in sharing the state responsibility for education with local boards and staffs, he and state board members "are pleased with much that we see" but "alarmed about some certain unresolved problems."

On the plus side, he cited successful desegregation efforts in more than a dozen communities, work in eliminating sex discrimination in schools, new programs for severely handicapped children and other achievements.

Still, Dr. Cronin said, local-level boards need to fulfill their responsibilities for eliminating health life-safety code violations in 1,000 school buildings, having children obtain the necessary shots or examinations for protection against diseases, and guarding against what appear to be excessive suspension and expulsion rates.

OUTSTANDING RATING in performance of her duties is presented to Mrs. Elaine Stevanus, 2829 Dale Ave., by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, St. Louis. The presentation is made by Colonel Thorwald Peterson, district engineer.

F-18 contract impact is cited

Congressional approval of an appropriation for the McDonnell-Douglas F-18 aircraft not only means continuation of 5,500 jobs at the aerospace corporation but will bring benefits to other parts of the regional economy, Harry T. Morley Jr., executive vice-president of the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association, said last week.

"Any time one business or industry in the region gains or loses economically, others are affected," Morley said, "Because McDonnell is such a big company, its fortunes are reflected strongly throughout the area."

"An aerospace job in St. Louis generates an additional 1.3 jobs in other businesses and industries in the two-state region; 5,500 jobs mean about $250 million a year added directly to the area's economy."

"A multiplier of 1.7 can be applied to aerospace dollars to find their eventual value to the regional economy as they are turned over several times."

"The indirect impact of the F-18 contract means about $175 million to our economy in goods, services and local government revenues, and the total direct and indirect impact is $425 million."

The F-18 contract for development of a compact Navy plane eventually will mean the production of 800 aircraft at a total cost of $6.4 billion, according to present plans. About half the total cost will go to McDonnell as chief contractor. The 5,500 jobs which might have disappeared because of a phasing out of F-4 production will be retained, so that the St. Louis plant's employment level will be stabilized for at least five years and possibly longer. The 12,500 jobs involved—5,500 at McDonnell and 7,150 indirect—represent 1.5 per cent of the total employment of the region.

Aerospace employees are the highest paid industrial class in the St. Louis economy, with average yearly income of $16,000, Morley said.

"The direct and indirect impact of McDonnell jobs is felt most on employment in the areas of retailing, general services, business services, finance and insurance, health services, wholesaling and construction, in that order."

"Impact in terms of dollars is felt most in the fields of finance and insurance, retailing, health services, transportation, general services and business services."

Disabled student dinner

The Disabled Students Association (DSA) of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will hold a fund-raising dinner Monday, Dec. 8, at SIUE.

DSA is concerned with bringing public recognition to the needs as well as capabilities of the handicapped, according to Tim Tighe, coordinator of special programs at SIUE. The DSA has been particularly active in helping to eliminate architectural barriers faced by disabled people in public institutions and buildings.

Partly through its efforts, many of these barriers have been alleviated on the SIUE campus, Tighe said.

The association is seeking a grant to further improve facilities for disabled students. If awarded, it will go toward installing electric doors, shorter water fountains and ramping curbs.

Included in the Dec. 9 program will be a progress report on the association's activities and a forecast of future projects, delivered by Joan Parrish of Alton, president.

Planned for the coming year are a conference and exhibition. Manufacturers, designers and retailers of equipment for the disabled are being invited to come to SIUE and display their products, to acquaint the handicapped with facilities available for them.

A campout for disabled students also is planned for next year.

A preview of video films, produced by members of DSA, will be shown at the dinner.

Although they are about the handicapped, the films are directed to the non-disabled, said Tighe, and are aimed at informing and increasing public awareness of a disabled person's potential.

Tickets are available through the Student Activities Office at SIUE.

Emergency medical technicians here to receive new state shoulder patch

Emergency medical technicians from the seven counties that make up Illinois Region IV will "have dinner with their friends" on Friday, Dec. 12 at Belleville Memorial Hospital Trauma Center.

Emergency medical technicians (EMTs) are policemen, firemen, ambulance attendants and other emergency workers who voluntarily trained and became certified in emergency care and transportation of the sick and injured in order to protect lives during their professional or volunteer work.

Among their friends present will be State Representative Celeste Stiehl, Mayor Charles Nichols of Belleville and Louis A. Reibling, PhD, supervisor of Allied Health and Personal and Public Services at Belleville Area College.

Since EMT training was first offered in Region IV—counties of St. Clair, Monroe, Randolph, Clinton, Madison, and Bond—900 emergency workers volunteered for the 81 hours of training and became state certified through rigid practical and written examinations.

Emergency room supervisors throughout the area have reported a "vastly improved level of early care" given to critically ill and to injury victims arriving at emergency rooms.

EMTs have gone beyond their personal training and also become certified as instructors for the American Heart Association and the American Red Cross. Communities such as Lebanon, Collinsville, Nashville and O'Fallon have benefited from training in lifesaving techniques given by EMTs at schools, fire stations and community halls.

EMT training is presently being given by Belleville Area College at the Belleville Memorial Hospital Trauma Center, St. Elizabeth Hospital Trauma Center in Granite City and the U.S. Air Force Medical Center, Scott Air Force Base, State Community College, East St. Louis, is offering a course at Wood River Township Hospital and Lewis and Clark College, Godfrey, is offering a course at Wood River Township Hospital Trauma Center.

Students' costs vary from minimal college fees to free, depending on Illinois Trauma Program funds and student wishes for college level credits. In past years, the dinner was held to recognize BAC-trained EMTs. But those from other parts of Illinois and those trained at other locations have attended with such enthusiasm that the Dec. 12 event is for all Illinois EMTs and their friends.

The trauma services coordinator at Memorial Hospital, Donald Hutchings, would like those who haven't received an invitation to contact him at the hospital (233-7750) or at home (231-7015).

In addition to a visit with Rep. Stiehl, there will be awards in recognition of academic and community service.

A display of new types of EMT equipment will be on hand as well as telemetry equipment used by advanced EMTs to paramedics. Four hospitals in the region have shown interest in supporting paramedic programs in their service areas.

Also of interest to technicians will be unveiling of Illinois' new EMT shoulder patch.

First distribution of the state's patch will be made at the dinner to each EMT who is carrying his state EMT certification card or who has newly completed the state EMT examination.

Art exhibit and reception

Two members of the art faculty at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will exhibit their newly completed artworks on the second floor of the University Center beginning today. The artists, Don Davis and Phillip Hampton, are associate professors in the department of art and design, School of Fine Arts and Communications, at SIUE.

During recent sabbaticals, they did research and prepared the works to be presented in this exhibit, "Evocations" is the title of Davis' 15 works. Hampton's work is the result of research and experimentation with synthetic mediums. Synthetic materials used in his works are cast resins and polyurethane (both acrylic mediums), wax and magna (a synthetic resin). His 16 works are entitled "Non-circumscribed Continuities."

The public is invited to a reception tonight at 7:30 in the Opatz and Greenhouses. The exhibit will run through Dec. 26.

Sign language book donated to libraries

The Cahokia Chapter of the Illinois Association of the Deaf distributed copies of a sign language book entitled, "A Basic Course in Manual Communication" in area public libraries, including those in the Quad-Cities.

The books were published by the National Association of the Deaf and funds for the books were provided by the state association. A sign language class will begin on Dec. 15, Channel Five, on Nov. 30 at 9 a.m. and will continue for ten weeks, according to Leon Hudson, president of the Cahokia Chapter.

Other officers of the chapter are Jack Gorges of Belleville, vice president; Erma Lillio of Cahokia, secretary and Mike Burpo of Duplo, treasurer.

Kaskaskia library system.

Hudson reported the Cahokia Chapter meets the fourth Friday night of each month at the Polish Hall, 826 Greenwood St., Madison, and is open to visitors.

New projects of the chapter include a voters registration drive as a campaign for more television and telephone services for the deaf.

Many of the captioned television programs seen on Channel 9 and Channel 5, as well as the interpreted news on St. Louis Illustrated, were encouraged by the Cahokia Chapter in cooperation with other deaf organizations in the metropolitan area, Hudson reports.

Other officers of the chapter are Jack Gorges of Belleville, vice president; Erma Lillio of Cahokia, secretary and Mike Burpo of Duplo, treasurer.

MARINE PRIVATE

JAMES T. BALLEW, 1345 Oriole St., Venice, He has graduated from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego. Physical conditioning, discipline and teamwork are emphasized during such training, and classes include instruction in close order drill, Marine Corps history, first aid, uniform regulations and military customs and courtesies.

Seminars on health topics

Dr. L. B. O'Reilly, health education specialist with the University of Illinois, will conduct a 9:30 a.m. session Wednesday on "Guidelines for Child Health" and a 1 p.m. session that day on "Arthritis, the Nation's Leading Crippler."

Both classes are sponsored by the U. of I. Cooperative Extension Service and will be held in the Farm Bureau Building downstairs meeting room at 900 Hillsboro in Edwardsville.

The child health workshop will feature a discussion on how to recognize illness in children, child health in the 1970s, when to call and when not to call the doctor, basic immunizations, and statutes pertaining to immunizations, as well as other topics.

The arthritis session will feature information on common forms of arthritis, development of the disease, arthritis warning signs, diagnosis and treatment, as well as additional understanding about the disease. GC South matmen win twice Warrior wrestling mentor William Schmitt's pre-season fears regarding his team's lighter weight classes were short-lived Saturday at Normal as Granite City High School South defeated Danville 50-7 and then the hosts 44-12 in triangle competition.

"I was somewhat surprised," commented Schmitt. "I figured it would be close competition, with our heavyweight classes pulling us through. But, as it turned out, I'm pleased with our performance."

South matmen won 10 of 12 matches in downing Danville (pin indicated by time): 96 pounds—Brian Basore won 2:39; 105—Wally DeShon lost 11-2 in last season's state qualifier; 112—Sam Perkins won 12-9; 119—Al Schuler won 8-2; 126—

Shutout by North wrestlers

Granite City High School North matmen flexed their muscles at East St. Louis Saturday, sweeping to victory in every weight class for a 59-0 blanking of the Assumption Pioneers.

"If my memory serves me correctly," said North's Walt Whitaker, "the closest we've come in the past to winning everything in a dual meet was in 1973, when we beat Centralia 59-2."

It marked the 1975-76 season opener for North's Steelers as Chris Whelan, 96 pounds, took to the mat and pinned his foe in three minutes and 53 seconds, garnering the first of seven Steeler pins in the meet.

Victorious also were: 105 pounds—Keith Whelan in :57; 112—Kirk Davis, 10-4; 119—Matt McCullough, 1-46; 126—

Jim Bledsoe, 5-07; 132—Chuck Taylor, 3-12; 138—John Sands, 3-8; 145—Jim Stanton, 12-3; 155—Steve Hartline, 11-6; 167—Mark Widell, 7-4; 185—Jim Shemwell, 12-2; and heavyweight—Dennis Civar, 3-36.

Cage Cougars lose twice in Rolla tourney

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville basketball team opened its 1975-76 season by dropping two games in the first annual University of Missouri-Rolla basketball classic tournament.

Captain Jim Dudley's young and comparatively inexperienced SIUE cagers gave it the "college try" in both games, losing 70-66 Friday night to Missouri Southern U. of Joplin and 70-67 Saturday night to the University of Arkansas—Monticello.

The Rolla Miners won the championship with a 78-72 victory over Missouri Southern. John Strubberg scored 24 points in the first game and 6-8 Jim Allen led SIUE in its second contest with 15 points.

The road ahead for the Cougars won't get any easier. On Tuesday night, they'll travel to the University of Missouri—St. Louis to battle St. Louis University in a curtain-raiser to the host Rivermen's game with Eastern Illinois U.

11-2 victory by local ice hockey team

Granite City downed Wood River 11-2 Friday at the Wilson Park ice rink during weekend Madison-St. Clair County Junior Ice Hockey League competition.

Scoring goals for the local squad were: John Pritchard three, Bryan Bunjan three and Joe Hassler, Derek Glenn, Gary Mainer, Kenny Sabol and Bill Niesciur, one each.

In consolation played Saturday, Collinsville blanked Belleville 2-0 and Alton remained undefeated by stopping previously undefeated O'Fallon 7-2.

WARRIOR GOLFERS. Special awards are presented to the team's only seniors — Jay Fedora, captain citation, and Kevin Worster, captain citation

Warriors lose heart-breaker, 58-56

GCHS South fell victim, 58-56, to Jerseyville here Saturday after the Panthers rallied in the final quarter of play with seven field goals and seven free throws. Warrior Jim Nolan fouled out with 4:53 left to play. South led the basketball contest 11-7, 26-23 and 42-37 at the quarters and held a slim 48-47 margin when Nolan, 6-6 center, picked up his fifth foul of the game. He totaled 15 points in the contest.

Further Tom Warford tied it at 48-48 with a free throw and teammate Dennis Bridgewater got the go-ahead field goal. Jerseyville stretched its lead to 53-48 but the Warriors narrowed it to one point with a minute left as Rick Fancher hit two free throws and then a field goal.

The visitors put together five straight points for a 58-52 advantage before field goals by Frank Holmes and John Slay made it close again in the closing seconds.

The Warriors hit 24 of 44 field goal tries and Jerseyville 19 of 41.

South put eight of 15 charity tosses into the net, but the Panthers made 30 of 37. South committed the most fouls, 20-15.

Trojans romp to 80-65 win over South; Venice five crushes Columbia 90-37

Madison's Trojans won their second cage contest of the season at home Friday night with an 80-65 victory over GCHS South High's Warriors.

Coach Bryan Wilkinson's Warriors took a 9-4 lead during the opening period but the Trojans added 14 points to South's four for a 22-13 first-quarter margin.

Leading by 28-20 at halftime, Madison sparked in the third quarter, running the length and width of the court with its defensive press and fast-breaking offense.

Passes between Seniors Danny Bankhead and Ron and Randall Jones also proved devastating as the Trojans racked up 23 points and enjoyed a 61-41 lead going into the final quarter.

The Trojan press helped force 22 Warrior turnovers.

Madison scored on 34 of 71 shots from the floor, and hit on 12 of 17 free throws.

South shot 50 per cent from the floor, 25 of 50, and at the charity stripe nailed 15 of 22.

Madison committed 30 fouls and South 15. The Trojans had eight turnovers.

South retrieved 32 rebounds to Madison's 29.

Bankhead and the Jones brothers led Madison's scoring, each with seven field goals.

Ron Jones and Bankhead totaled 20 points apiece and Randall Jones garnered 14. Edwin Garrett was another Madison double-figure scorer with 11.

Also scoring for Madison were: Joe Gulash and Clayton Harris, four each; Ron Williams and Rodney Davis, three each; and Anthony King, one point.

Warrior John Slay, who also totaled 20 points, led his team's comeback with three field goals in the final period. South outscored Madison 24-19 in that quarter.

Slay also recovered 10 rebounds.

Scoring also for South were: Jim Nolan with 16 points, Rick Fancher 11, Terry Angle six, Mike McRaven four and David Rhodes, Frank Holmes, Dan Lawrence and Tim Anderson, two points each.

Coach Richard Esington's Venice Red Devils showed visiting Columbia Friday night why they were the 1974-75 Illinois Class A state basketball champions, hitting on 41 field goals for a 90-37 victory over the Eagles.

The Red Devil defense limited Columbia to only 14 baskets and nine points from the foul line. Mark Greeting was the Eagles' only double-figure scorer with 10 points.

Reggie Gardner, 5-11 senior, opened the scoring for Venice with a field goal and went on to connect on 11 of 15 from the field for a game high of 22 points.

Venice led 22-10 at the end of the first quarter, and stretched the margin to 53-18 at halftime, assisted in the second quarter by Gardner's 12 points, Jeff Woolfork's seven and Ronald Salmond's six.

The Red Devils held a 41-point margin, 71-30, going into the fourth period and went on to pump in 19 points to Columbia's seven. Other than Gardner, scoring for Venice were: Woolfork 13, James Crowder and James Turner 12 apiece, Ronald Salmond eight, Ricky Salmond six, Charles Cotton five, Anthony Wise four and Bryan Mathis two.

Lancers and Redbirds topple North in initial cage games

Granite City High School North's basketball Steelers opened their season this weekend with back-to-back losses, 68-60 Friday at Belleville East and 75-41 Saturday at Alton.

The East Lancers held an 18-17 margin at the end of the first quarter and improved their lead to 28-21 at halftime after applying a strong, man-to-man defensive press that helped cause nine of the Steelers' turnovers.

East enjoyed a 57-46 lead going into the final quarter, and the Steelers narrowed the margin by outscoring the Lancers 14-11.

The clubs were about equal from the floor, North hitting 26 of 53 field goal attempts and East 26 of 64.

From the free throw line, North connected on eight of 13 and East on 16 of 22.

Fouls totaled 17 by North and 16 by East.

The Steelers outplayed the Lancers on the boards, pulling down 35 rebounds to East's 24. Turnovers were the big factor—North 19 and East six.

Lancer Gary Haverman, a 6-6 junior, led his team's scoring with 18 points.

Steeler Rodney Worthen, a 6-3 1/2 junior playing in his first varsity contest, tallied 16 points for North and recovered eight rebounds.

Scoring also for North were: Larry Schleicher 14 points, Rick Spurlock 13, Tom Schocker 12 and Tim Luehmann, five.

Alton's Redbirds found their way through North's defense to lead 22-10, 41-24 and 59-34 at the quarters.

Led in scoring by Gary Jelf, Alton scored 14 points in the first quarter.

The Redbirds converted 11 of 19 free throws into points and North made nine of 12.

North committed the most fouls, 16-12, and the most turnovers, 15-13.

Worthen again led the Steelers in scoring with 14 points. Schocker and Spurlock each garnered 10 and Schleicher had seven.

fries' 18 points and Leroy Stampley's 17. Alton controlled the boards with more than 40 rebound recoveries and then converted many into points with layups from under the basket.

Alton made good 32 of 69 field goal attempts, while North hit only 16 of 61.

The Steelers had trouble finding the basket on close-in shots, hitting on four of 14 from within 15 feet in the first quarter.

The Redbirds converted 11 of 19 free throws into points and North made nine of 12.

North committed the most fouls, 16-12, and the most turnovers, 15-13.

Worthen again led the Steelers in scoring with 14 points. Schocker and Spurlock each garnered 10 and Schleicher had seven.

ALL-STATE RECOGNITION is accorded Larry Schleicher, offensive end on the GCHS North 1975 football team. The surprise announcement—following his selection as most valuable Steeler—prompts a standing ovation for the athlete, shown receiving a scrapbook. At far left is Principal Gilbert Walmsey and next is Athletic Coordinator Donald Detering.

Over recent years, Madison County Federal has grown to become the largest savings and loan in Granite City. And we're off to a great start in Glen Carbon.

The reason? High interest on savings. Insurance of accounts to $40,000. Convenient locations. Postage paid save-by-mail. Sure, they're all important.

But reason number one is our staff. They've been carefully selected to make saving especially pleasant, easy and convenient. You'll see what we mean any time you visit one of our offices. Come see for yourself.

Area civic and political leaders were on hand Friday noon for the kickoff ceremony to launch the Salvation Army's $20,000 Tree of Lights campaign to aid needy families at Christmas.

A total of $4,700 in initial pledges and cash contributions was announced at the kickoff by E. A. "Drew" Karandjef, general chairman of this year's fund-raising drive.

The amount illuminated 188 bulbs on the tree, located in Clark Park on Niedringhaus Avenue, where the kickoff program was held. Each light represents a $25 donation.

More than 412 applications for Christmas baskets and other aid have been received to date by the Salvation Army. Additional requests are expected, Captain Michael Tompkins, local SA commander, said today.

Steele (St-Glen Carbon) and Mayora Paul Schuler (Granite City) and William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice.

All the speakers urged "wholehearted support" for the traditional drive and the efforts of the Salvation Army. Each contributed his donation in the bright red "kettle" set up at the tree site.

Mrs. Fanny Epstein, a long-time member of the Salvation Army's Advisory Board, was asked to light the first bulb. A 40-voice choir from Sacred Heart Catholic Church added to the occasion with appropriate Christmas music and carols.

The Salvation Army canteen service provided coffee and doughnuts during the program and continued to furnish the refreshments to passersby throughout the day.

Granite City Rotarians named the Christmas kettles at various locations about the community on Friday, the first day of the drive, and Granite City Moose Lodge 272 continued the collecting chores at the kettles set on Saturday. Twenty organizations have agreed to perform bellringing duties around town between now and Christmas, Captain Tompkins said.

About 2,000 toys are expected to be distributed to local needy children prior to the yuletide holidays, and Salvation Army staff members and volunteers will make their usual house-to-house visits to area nursing homes. The Golden Aged's senior citizens will be entertained for Christmas music and carols.

A total of 133 senior residents was hosted by the Salvation Army last week at a Thanksgiving dinner.

Contributions to the Tree of Lights may be mailed to: Salvation Army, P.O. Box 338, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

Madison pulls out of M-V detective project

The city of Madison is withdrawing at the end of the first year of the joint Madison-Venice detective team project.

During the first year of the project, the two cities received 100 per cent funding. The estimated cost to Madison for the second year would be between $8,000 and $10,000.

Venice Mayor William M. Ebersold said, "We would have liked to continue the project. Our chief of police will contact John Ellis, director for ILEC, to see what we can do."

It has not been determined if the cities will be required to return the equipment, such as the autos, to the federal government.

Indian theme for Pack 19

Craft work completed during the past month by Cub Scouts from Pack 19 was displayed at a pack meeting last week at Washington School.

For the exhibit the Webelos created bridges and Indian shields. Den One made a model Indian village and drew pictures of Indian life, and Den Two carved and painted totem poles.

Lester White, assistant cubmaster, and Bob Rutledge, Webelos leader, opened the session with the pledge of allegiance.

They displayed a National Summertime award received by Pack 19 for having three events during the summer months.

Awards were given by Rutledge to Webelos Mark Dilday, naturalist, and Jerry Krug, outdoorsman. Both received citizenship badges.

One-year pins went to Robert Cornett, David Noel, Larry Hanson and Keith Cookley; a two-year pin to Kenneth Phillips; and a six-year pin to Mrs. Vee Throne, den leader coach.

Bobcat patches were received by Tim Dennis, Mark Lehman and Jay Huber. Bill Mullens was presented a Webelos and denner ribbon.

A new flag, designed by Jerry Krug and made by Mrs. Pat Rutledge, den mother, was presented by White and Rutledge to the Webelos.

Bill Mullens, Webelos denner, assisted the leaders in an Arrow of Light ceremony for Mark Dilday and Jerry Krug.

Scoutmaster Jack Veizer and senior patrol leader of Boy Scout Troop 16, accepted Jerry Krug into the troop upon graduation from the Webelos.

The closing ceremony was performed in Indian sign language by Den Two.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN
Now that Thanksgiving is over we can look ahead to Christmas, New Year's and another year.

We can honestly say that this was the smoothest running Thanksgiving ever. After years of asking customers not to wait 'til the last minute to finish their shopping, this year it all fell into place. Tuesday was almost as big as Wednesday with the result that the usual "crush" on the day before Thanksgiving just didn't happen. We were busy, and we took care of a lot of people; but without the "crush". Thank you all very much.

Approximately 2,000 people checked out on Wednesday (our new electronic registers report transactions hourly) and with the kind of weather we had all day that was something. The peak hours showed over 3 people being checked out each minute which will give you an idea of how efficient our checkers and baggers are.

Bicycling programs available

The QBL Touring Group of Granite City, sponsored by Q-Bikes Ltd., met last week at the Q Bikes Shop, 1411 Twenty-first St., to complete arrangements for informational bicycling programs the group will present.

After the session, David Long, John Werner and Kevin Allen, group officers, gave a program for Boy Scout Troop 13, sponsored by St. Elizabeth Church Holy Name Society.

Allen, a former Explorer Post 96 officer, demonstrated emergency bicycle tire patching, a requirement for joining touring groups.

Werner, a member of the Belleville Gateway East Freewheelers, reviewed his experiences with the club and as a member of a racing team. He described the rigorous training schedule which includes riding 150 to 300 miles each week, and demonstrated the use of bicycling rollers for practicing indoors during inclement weather.

After the program, various points were discussed, and scouts Mike Beutner, Rick Rodgers, Mark Gasparovic, Bobby Portell, John Judy and Dave Copper were shown how to use the training rollers.

Refreshments were served at a local restaurant.

Golden Age Circle Club installs

Mrs. Ruby Corbitt was installed as president of the Golden Age Circle Club at last week's birthday-business meeting at the Kirkpatrick Homes Recreation Hall.

A silent prayer was offered for the family and friends of Oliver Talley, a member who died recently. The group repeated the Lord's Prayer and the pledge of allegiance in unison.

Other officers installed for 1976 were: Mrs. Caroline Lux, vice president and recording secretary; Mrs. Lumeta Durbin, secretary; and Mrs. Peggy Gibbons, treasurer.

Mrs. Durbin reported receiving thank you cards from Mr. and Mrs. Everett Morlen for an anniversary gift and from the Oliver Talley family.

The Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children also acknowledged a donation sent by the club.

Membership rosters have been completed and are ready for distribution, Mrs. Gibbons announced.

Mrs. Lux said cards were sent to several members who are ill. They included Arthur Whitworth, Edwin Stegelmeyer, Cordie Henning, Lola Miller, Florence Medcalfe, Lola Lovel, Evelyn Davis, William Butler and Georgine Graham.

The Salvation Army will serve dinner at noon, Dec. 18, at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, Mrs. Corbitt said. She also asked those belonging to the More the Merrier Club to register early for a Christmas party.

Edgar Paddock, president of the Senior Citizens Council, said the seniors' meals program continued to be delayed until further notice.

Plans for the club's next meeting and Christmas party at noon, Dec. 9, were reviewed.

The birthdays of Mrs. Blanche Scantling, Glen Lowe and Paddock were celebrated.

Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Peggy Jones, Mrs. Evelyn Davis, Mrs. Violet Lindner, Mrs. Gibbons, Mrs. Lux and Mrs. Georgia Butler.

Thirty-one members attended and a guest, Miss Carrie Smith, was present.

Prather Junior High School Student Council members last week delivered Thanksgiving gift baskets to four area families.

The young people went shopping at local stores, purchasing items they believed would make an ideal Thanksgiving dinner. They were accompanied by Jack Hauge, school counselor.

In charge of the gift basket project were Bobby Soden, council president; Rich Miller, vice-president; Robin Stark, secretary and Vickie Price, treasurer.

Vicki Tanksley birth defects poster child

Vicki Lynn Tanksley, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Tanksley, 3529 Westmoreland Drive, has been chosen to represent the Madison County March of Dimes as the Birth Defects Poster Child for the 1976 fund raising campaign.

A friendly and happy child, despite her health problems, Vicki attended special education pre-school classes and now is enrolled at the special education kindergarten level.

She was born at St. Elizabeth Hospital with a condition called spina bifida with myelomeningocele (open spine) and hydrocephalus. She was transferred to St. Louis Children's Hospital when she was one day old.

At Children's, a Holter valve was placed in her head and surgery to close the back was performed at 6 weeks old. Since that time, the small girl has undergone five operations and numerous therapeutic procedures, such as traction and body casts to correct club feet.

Vicki underwent surgery the past summer and presently is wearing foot braces. Later, she will use crutches and a parapodium for standing as a part-time measure.

Both Vicki's parents are graduates of Granite City High School. Her father attended evening sessions at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, graduating in 1969 with a degree in business administration. He has been employed as a buyer at Lucke's, St. Louis, for six years.

Mr. and Mrs. Tanksley have been married for six years. They also are the parents of a son, Steven Eugene, 4 years, who is a normal, healthy child.

To launch the March of Dimes '76 campaign, Vicki took part last week in a bread sale event arranged by Elsie B. and Wilma Herring, general chairmen for the fund raising drive in Granite City.

Book return hours given.

As the fall quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville draws to a close, students are being advised that the extended hour schedule for textbook returns will begin Dec. 8.

Daily hours of operation during which students will be able to return their books will be: Dec. 8, 9, 10 and 11, from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m.; Dec. 12 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.; Dec. 13 from 8 a.m. until noon; and Dec. 15 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Deadlines for the return of textbooks for the fall quarter is Monday, Dec. 15, at 5 p.m. Students returning books late will be charged a penalty fee. Textbook Services is located in the basement of Lovejoy Library.

Dates when students may pick up their textbooks for the winter quarter will be announced later.

Austrian travels narrated for club

Travelers Abroad met at Prather Junior High School last week. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Stoeber gave an illustrated lecture on their recent trips to Salzburg, Austria, and other cities and villages nearby which are famous in the annals of music.

Salzburg, said Mrs. Stoeber, is the name of the state as well as the principal city that it encloses. The city is built on both banks of the Salzach River, at the point where the river lies between two high mountains, both of which create enchanting vistas.

It is at the time of the Mozart Festival, held annually in July and August that Salzburg receives the most visitors, the speaker explained. Mozart, the wonder child of Europe, was born in Salzburg in 1756 and in the 35 years of his short life he wrote a prodigious number of compositions and played for many monarchs.

His native city paid him little honor during his lifetime, but is making up for it now, Mrs. Stoeber said. The world's greatest musicians, conductors, singers and instrumentalists come to Salzburg yearly to take part in the festival as a tribute to the master of music. Salzburg is so crowded that many visitors are obliged to room across the border among the resorts of Berchtesgaden and Bad Reichenhall.

Salzburg is dominated by a 12th century fortress which was the stronghold of the archbishop, recognized as a prince of the Holy Roman Empire, Mrs. Stoeber said. He and his successors not only were spiritual leaders but temporal rulers with absolute power until 1802 when the see was secularized. Since 1814 the city and province of Salzburg have been part of Austria.

On the outskirts of the city is the Pleasure Castles, built in the early 17th century by Bishop Marcus Sitticus who was a "mad fountain designer," the speaker explained. She said many of the fountains were used to operate marionette shows, to balance balls on water jets and others to spout water on unsuspecting guests by a system of remote control.

The Stoebers also showed pictures of Bad Ischl, the most fashionable spa in Upper Austria, home of the great Franz Lehar, composer of "The Merry Widow" and many other operettas. Today, his villa is the Lehar Museum.

Because the Stoebers had, some years ago, been friends of descendants of Franz Gruber, composer of "Silent Night," they were particularly interested in visiting Arnsdorf and Oberndorf, now famous because of the song "Silent Night." Stoeber explained that at Christmas in 1818 Joseph Mohr, assistant priest at Oberndorf, had asked his friend, Franz Gruber, a schoolmaster and organist at Arnsdorf, to compose a tune for a Christmas poem which he had written. This request was an emergency measure, for a single performance only. One version states that the organ bellows had been gnawed by hungry mice.

Gruber obliged and at midnight mass in the Oberndorf church, he played the tune on his guitar while he and Father Mohr sang the song, "Silent Night."

The church was destroyed by a flood in 1890, but a memorial chapel now stands on the site and is visited by thousands of tourists, the Stoebers said.

Taken were a camera, valued at $50; a cassette tape recorder, $80; a Lord Elgin wristwatch, $70; a set of steam rollers and dryer, $30; assorted men's jewelry and cash, $60; assorted ladies jewelry, $100; and a 22 caliber pistol.

$1,000 BURGLARY

Items valued at more than $1,000 were stolen from the home of David Hoff, 6 Lucky Lane, Mitchell, in a burglary reported to Madison County sheriff's deputies at 7:30 a.m. Sunday. Entry was gained by breaking the glass in the kitchen door. Taken were a quantity of guns and several miscellaneous items. An inventory was to be conducted to determine what was stolen.

FOOD IS STOLEN

A quantity of food, including canned goods, flour, a chicken, a roast and hamburger, is all known missing after a burglary at the home of Thomas Hunt, 2132 Bryan Ave., which was reported at 11:20 a.m. Sunday.

A screen was pried from a north window and the unlocked window was opened to gain entry. All drawers and closets in the home were ransacked. A lock also was broken off a trunk.

Sacred Heart group plans party

Mrs. Valerie Stevens, area soloist and vocal music director for the Madison School District will be the guest of the Sacred Heart Altar Society at its Christmas party, Dec. 11 and will conduct the evening's entertainment program.

Committee members arranging the party, under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Betty Gac and Mrs. Mary Kristian, are Mesdames Pat Kozzen, Betty Struckhoff, Barbara Walker, Maggie Williamson and Pam York.

Mrs. Marie J. Prehn, president, announced in lieu of a gift exchange, members will provide food or money for gift baskets, in addition to their usual gifts to the Dominican Sisters teaching at Sacred Heart School.

Following a short business meeting and an address by Father James Hill, slides of parish activities during the last year were shown by Mrs. Mary Jane Bess, who has served as parish photographer during that period.

Hostesses for the evening were Mesdames Barbara

Using energy wisely* is everybody's business

Good insulation does a lot

Insulation can mean a big savings in the energy you use for heating and cooling.

Insulating your attic is a job you can do yourself. And it's a wise investment in your home's future.

At Illinois Power, the people whose job is providing energy are investing in your future too.

We began investing in today's modern power plants fifteen years ago. Today these plants produce electricity more efficiently than ever. And they're needed to supply the much greater amounts of energy our customers need today.

Making sure of plenty of energy tomorrow will continue to take planning. Planning to produce more energy, more efficiently. And it will take good planning by all of us to use energy more wisely than ever.

Area showing it is capable of restoring its ability to compete with other regions for economic growth

As noted here at the time of the Fantus Company study this fall, Illinois has been ranked a poor 35th among the continental U.S. States in attractiveness of its business climate. While no single action will be sufficient to erase this conclusion, a big forward step is the new "ten commandments" of labor-management harmony announced by the Southern Illinois Builders Association and the Southwestern Illinois Building and Construction Trades Council.

Stemming from meetings held in conjunction with preliminary planning for the proposed Columbia-Waterloo intercontinental airport, the pact outlines varied policies that unions and contractors have devised and then pledged to follow.

It brings to mind the ten-point agreement that helped to solidify plans for the mammoth Granite City Steel expansion in the 1960s. Also being recalled is the 1975 breakthrough in which national labor groups and the Union Electric Co. achieved a comprehensive agreement affecting construction of nuclear power facilities in Missouri.

The Fantus study included such factors as taxes, labor laws, unemployment compensation, workers' compensation, size and cost of government, welfare costs and trends, state indebtedness and other state and local government-related conditions.

Although the SIBA-SIBCTC agreement deals only with labor-management policies, and is limited to the construction field, it indicates that alert and informed citizens in this region and state can make significant strides toward solving problems that inhibit the kind of prosperity and job opportunity found elsewhere. We hope it is only one of a series of positive steps taken to earn for this area the kind of economic well being and enhanced quality of life that it deserves.

Figures err; fewer doctors than estimated

(American Association for the Advancement of Science)
The United States, generally acknowledged to have a "doctor shortage," may have even fewer doctors than is widely believed.

This situation appears to have resulted from a significant overcounting—by more than 20 per cent—of the number of foreign-born and educated physicians who have entered the U.S. health care system since 1965.

Foreign medical graduates (FMGs) are especially important in this country because U.S. medical schools in the past 20 years have not graduated enough physicians to fill hospital positions in all hospitals. FMGs have filled one-third of these slots.

A new analysis of migration to the U.S. of foreign medical graduates, based on unpublished government data, has been completed.

In "Physician Migration Reexamined," Rosemary Stevens, Louis Wolf Goodman and John G. Darge of Yale University and Stephen S. Mick of the Social Science Research Council of New York observe that old figures make it appear that the number of FMGs arriving has been steadily exceeding the number of students graduating from U.S. medical schools (except in 1967 and 1968); this has not been the case.

Discrepancies in the data can be readily seen by examining the 1973 figures, they say. Whereas the corrected estimate of new foreign medical graduates entering the United States is 8,123, the uncorrected estimate is 12,262 or about 50 per cent higher.

While there is no doubt that there has been a gradual increase in the number of entrants, the size of this increase is not as great as has been assumed. Comparing the years 1965 and 1973, for example, one finds a 35 per cent increase in the annual entry of physicians; uncorrected figures give this increase as 92 per cent, the researchers note.

Since recent surveys have shown that at least two-thirds of physicians entering are likely to remain in the United States, use of uncorrected data can cause an overestimation of the long-term contribution of FMGs by more than 10,000 physicians over a nine-year period, it is estimated.

These apparent miscalculations have been done by the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) of the U.S. Department of Justice, which seems to have counted as new arrivals foreign medical graduates who, after being in the U.S. for some time, change their legal status here from that of temporary resident or visitor, to that of immigrant. This type of error counts the same doctor twice.

Such mistakes can be critical in projecting future U.S. health care manpower needs, since INS data are the bases for many health care manpower studies, including those of the National Science Foundation, the U.S. Congress and U.S. Departments of Labor and State.

Decision needed quickly on gas pipeline in Alaska

Comment by U.S. Chamber of Commerce — The latest reports on Alaskan energy funds are encouraging. The latest reports on getting the fuel out of Alaska are not.

Right now it looks like millions of cubic feet of natural gas may be thrown away — at a time when we are seriously short of it — because of the years required for the federal government to make a simple decision to let private investors build a gas pipeline at their own expense.

Here's the situation: The exploration for petroleum in Alaska is also turning up large quantities of natural gas — more than 10 per cent of the known U.S. supply, according to conservative Interior Department estimates.

Many of the gas deposits are mixed with oil, as is often the case. When one comes out of the ground, so does the other. That's fine if the gas can be piped off to users. But what if there's no pipes?

Natural gas is difficult to store. What comes up with the oil must either be distributed or burned off — wasted.

The famed trans-Alaskan oil pipeline is scheduled to begin limited operation in mid-1977. The wells will start pumping then, with or without a gas pipeline.

The four-year period required to build the oil line — the largest construction project in history — is surpassed slightly by the time it took to get all necessary governmental approvals — the largest pile of "red tape" in history.

If a similar amount of time is needed for approval of a gas pipeline, then three predictions can confidently be made: (1) Virtually all of the gas associated with the first oil through the oil pipeline will be wasted, perhaps for several years.

(2) In the meantime, the lower 48 states will experience such severe natural gas shortages that even some private homes will be cut off. (3) The ultimate cost of building the gas pipeline will escalate by several billion dollars, due to inflation.

The history of the oil pipeline furnishes ample evidence in support of point number three. When first proposed in 1969 — as a slightly smaller pipeline — its cost was estimated at $900 million. The current estimate is $6.3 billion, and even that is optimistic.

Two companies are seeking permission to build gas pipelines. One proposed route would cross Alaska from north to south, near the oil line. The gas would be liquefied at an ice-free port on the south coast and shipped to the lower 48 by special tanker. The other route would cross Canada and feed directly into existing gas pipeline networks here.

Each plan has its advantages and disadvantages. But neither has problems great enough to outweigh the critical need to get started — on something. Construction alone will take from three to five years.

Does it have to take another four years to get federal approval? No. But a great deal of effort and leadership and statesmanship would be required to cut the red tape. And not much of it is in sight.

Congress has floundered around for two years trying to come up with a national energy policy. The best they've been able to do is recommend a temporary rollback of prices — just long enough to get them through the 1976 elections. Some legislators evidently prefer to let crises pass, rather than charging off seeking scapegoats, rather than preventing trouble before it starts.

The problem — in more ways than one — is lack of enough energy where it's needed.

Drive will brighten holidays for many Quad-Cityans

The month that includes Christmas is here, and Quad-Cityans' always-generous thoughts are turning to the needs of local people during the holiday season.

The traditional Tree of Lights campaign has been launched by the Salvation Army, and a record $200,000 in contributions is being sought, reflecting the relatively high level of unemployment and underderemployment.

Even on days and evenings when snow covers the ground and chilling winds are blowing, large numbers of volunteers have been manning Tree of Lights contribution kettles. Warming them and all contributors is the inner glow resulting from their unselfish service and genuine helpfulness to others.

Coal plant has big potential

By GOVERNOR DANIEL WALKER

The Coalco plant to be built at New Athens is a major breakthrough in the Illinois coal development program. We worked very hard and overcame great obstacles to bring this project to Illinois.

The project represents the largest contract awarded by the Energy Research and Development Administration since ERDA began operating last year.

It is a big step up the ladder from the projects which ERDA has supported to date.

Coalco's New Athens plant will use 2,700 tons of coal—Illinois coal—every day. And it will be clean energy—no threat to the environment.

It will produce 22 million cubic feet of gas and 3,900 barrels of oil every day. That is enough fuel to heat 80,000 homes.

Construction of the new plant will employ 1,000 workers. And if the demonstration plant succeeds, the company plans to develop a commercial plant which will employ 700 workers permanently.

These, however, are only the direct jobs. The ripple effect in terms of support industry, retailing, housing development, manufacturing—all mean thousands of additional jobs in the area of the project.

These are significant results of our energy program — direct results.

The federal officials who informed us of the Illinois selection said that our plan, including the $25 million from our state bond program — was far and away the best.

We were competing with five other states with 15 other locations.

The decisive factor, as far as I can determine, in bringing the project to Illinois is the fact that Illinois was willing to share in the cost of the project.

The state has a $70 million bond issue to help bring these jobs to Illinois. Illinois' share of the project is $25 million.

Now, the Illinois energy program is moving forward. Since we started the energy program last year, coal companies have announced 10 new mines in Illinois.

Our Department of Mines and Minerals is projecting an increase of 27 million tons of coal from Illinois by 1982.

We project that those new mines and increased production from existing mines will provide jobs for 15,000 to 17,000 additional workers.

There will be more achievements in our energy program, because this administration will continue to emphasize the key place of coal in the economic development of Illinois.

I want to thank the members

Women on college campuses ceased to be a curiosity long ago but not on all campuses. Sixteen women dental students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are blazing paths in their field.

Although women are emerging in practically every professional field, less than two percent of the dentists in the United States are women, according to a 1973 study published in the "Journal of Dental Education."

In other countries such as the Soviet Union, Finland, Greece, Denmark and Cuba, there are more women than men in the dental field.

SIEU School of Dental Medicine is a national leader in the number of women admitted into the program.

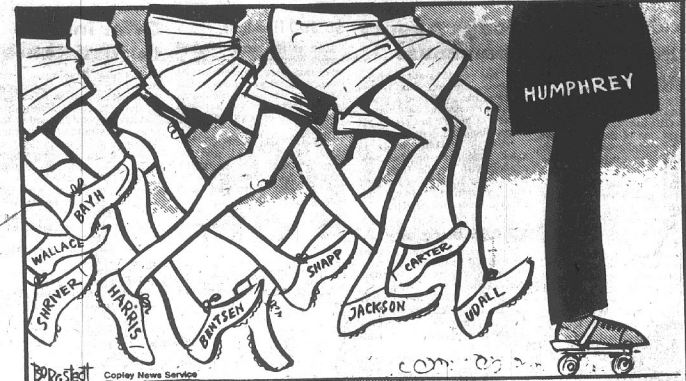

Twenty-five percent of the students enrolled in the school are women. In 1973, less than three percent of dental students in the United States were women.

Debra Schirber, director of student affairs at the SIEU School of Dental Medicine and an instructor in applied behavioral science at the Alton campus, can't understand why more women don't pursue a career in dentistry.

"I think women make better dentists than men in many instances," she said. "Women tend to be more sensitive as human beings to how patients experience the dental situation. I think this is due to our cultural upbringing."

Apparently, many women don't consider dentistry as a career because it is a

Lewis, Clark historic site can be attraction

Wood River Junction—"I would like to explore some place which we can do for the Bicentennial year at Lewis and Clark State Park," Margaret Brown, director of historical sites for the state of Illinois, told a group of citizens in East Alton.

She assumed her present position, formerly held by Bill Watts, in late August.

She received request forms from the Department of Conservation on which she completed budget requirements for the 1976 year, but there was not even a request form for Lewis and Clark State Park.

"Therefore, there will be no funds to spend in 1976 on the park."

The Lewis and Clark Trail runs through 11 states from Washington, with its starting point just outside Hartford near the Lewis and Clark Park.

Still, the 170-acre park has been shuttled aimlessly through three successive Illinois administrations, apparently showed aside for lack of political significance. It is inconceivable to her that the Department of Conservation would fail to even send a budget request to the director of historical sites for one of its state parks, let alone one of such historical importance.

The Lewis and Clark Expedition of 1803-1806 established its first winter headquarters at Camp Wood River on the banks of the Mississippi River, on the confluence of the Missouri River, where the men of the expedition were disciplined and trained for the historic venture into the unknown American west.

The Lewis and Clark State Park site is the only place in the United States where tourists can view the confluence of the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers.

Clarence Decker, chairman of the Illinois Lewis and Clark Trail Committee, first became interested in the park in 1967 when he went there one day and found five out-of-state cars parked, with the people out looking and photographing the rivers and the park site.

"It occurred to me then that if people would come all the way from Montana and Texas to see the spot where the Missouri joins the Mississippi River, this site had potential for a tourist attraction," Decker said.

Decker along with many others have been advocates of the development of the park. On the national level, the Lewis and Clark Trail Foundation, as well as its predecessor organization, has on several occasions passed resolutions directing the secretary of the Interior, requesting development of the site.

From the beginning, 25 years ago with a five-acre site, the improvement by the state of Illinois has been the purchase last year of 13 additional acres for a new entrance road.

The state was given a perpetual lease on an additional 168 acres from the Corps of Engineers.

The Ashland Oil Co. has also offered to sell 57 acres of ground to the state directly north of the present park.

To illustrate that Illinois is lagging behind in progress with historic park site development, it is interesting to note what has been done at various other Lewis and Clark landmarks in the other 10 states.

At Sioux City, Ia., a 100-foot high monument rises high on a bluff overlooking the Mississippi.

In North Dakota is an authentic reconstruction of the five Indian earth lodges.

At Fort Clatsop in Oregon, near the mouth of the Columbia river, is a replica of a fort which follows the floor plan dimensions as drawn by Clark on his field book.

It is hoped a replica of Camp Dubois, similar to that at Fort Clatsop in Oregon, could be built at Lewis and Clark.

Fort Clatsop National Memorial, as well as its administered by the National Park Service. A superintendent is directly in charge of the park. More than $50,000 in postcards alone are sold at the park.

Every state along the historic trail has done a fantastic job of development with the exception of Illinois.

Montana has marked 2,000 miles of its roadway with Lewis and Clark markers.

With so much history on record, why is there so little progress in developing the Wood River site?

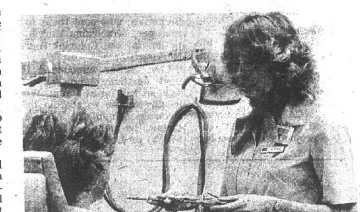

Clarence Decker says he hopes Illinois is about to wake up to the fact that Lewis and Clark made a significant contribution to the history of Illinois and should be honored accordingly.

The park will not only provide another much-needed park to the area but it would commemorate what has been called by historians the most important exploration of modern times.

A 40-page brochure was recently published by the state listing landmarks of interest. Listed for Madison County, one of the most populous and wealthiest counties in the state, were three sites—the Lovejoy Monument in Alton, the Edward Cole grave in Edwardsville and Cahokia Mounds, which is on the border.

The political process is a cumbersome affair, but surely the state cannot overlook much longer the potential of this area as an outstanding tourist attraction as well as one of historical importance.

IF THAT'S THE BOW, WHERE'S THE ARROW? Hollea White of Edwardsville, a second-year student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville School of Dental Medicine, performs a facbow transfer. Stage II students spend an average of 20 hours a week in the school's Dental Clinic treating patients.

Area leads in number of future women dentists

WOMAN DENTIST GETS THE PICTURE—Ingrid Bauer of Granite City interprets dental X-rays at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Dental Clinic on the Alton campus. She is a native of Zell, Germany and is one of 16 women students at the SIEU School of Dental Medicine. Like many other dental students at the school, she holds a graduate degree (M.S. degree from Ohio State University).

tor in applied behavioral science at the Alton campus, can't understand why more women don't pursue a career in dentistry.

"I think women make better dentists than men in many instances," she said. "Women tend to be more sensitive as human beings to how patients experience the dental situation. I think this is due to our cultural upbringing."

Apparently, many women don't consider dentistry as a career because it is a male-dominated field. According to Ingrid Bauer of Granite City, her original career choice was dentistry.

"When I was in college, none of the pre-professional programs were encouraged for women," she said. "I chose to go into another field but came back to dentistry."

I thought times had changed enough and professions were now accepting women, so I decided it wouldn't hurt to at least try."

Some schools discourage women from planning careers in dentistry because of the old argument that women aren't as good in the sciences as men are. This certainly doesn't apply to the SIEU dental students since high aptitude, a sound background in required science courses and dedication are musts for the successful dental school applicant.

Each year, the School of Dental Medicine receives over 400 applications requesting admission. After transcripts are submitted, entrance exams taken and interviews passed, only 48 applicants are admitted into the program.

Some of the women students have earned graduate degrees in science. Marilyn Zahalsky of Edwardsville holds a Ph.D. in biochemistry from City University of New York. She is currently in the second year of dental school and meets the demands of being a student and full-time mother to her four-year-old daughter, Maya.

Another student, Marilyn Wenks, a native of Murray, Ky., recently presented a prize-winning table clinic to the American Dental Association in Chicago. She is also considered one of the best students at the school in prosthodontics, a specialty concerned with making artificial replacements of missing parts of the mouth and jaws. These women are outstanding, but Miss Schirber said all of the SIEU School of Dental Medicine students are extraordinary. Approximately 25,000 patients a year visit the dental school, and Miss Schirber says the care is so good she would recommend the clinic to her best friend.

"Patients may experience some surprise when a woman dentist walks into the room, but I've never heard of one refusing treatment from a woman," she said.

Even though dentistry is still a male-dominated profession, the reasons for women to choose dentistry as a career are numerous. But Janet Martin of LaHarpe expressed a view that may be a major reason for women to look toward dentistry as a career.

"I received a lot of encouragement from my family and friends to go to dental school," Miss Martin said. "I always wanted to go into a health field, and I decided I would be good for dentistry and it would be good for me."

"But some day I hope to have a home and family," she continued, "and dentistry is a health field that will give me some free time for that."

Rights compliance paves way for 200 new buses

"The Bi-State Development Agency has been advised by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration Office of Civil Rights to proceed with new public hearings on its pending $15 million capital grant application," Robert J. Baer, executive director of the Bi-State Development Agency, announced last week.

In August 1975, the UMTA Office of Civil Rights charged that Bi-State was in violation of Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

"Our positive action in response to those charges has satisfied UMTA's questions regarding the equitable assignment of our buses throughout the Bi-State system," Baer added.

"Bi-State is now in a position to complete the public hearing process, the next step in UMTA grant procedure."

"Obviously, Bi-State is pleased by the approval because it clears the way for our area to receive 200 new buses and 50 additional passenger shelters and related equipment."

"Equally important is the fact that the Bi-State Development Agency has satisfactorily answered earlier allegations of civil rights non-compliance," Baer said.

He explained that public hearings will be held in Missouri and Illinois in early 1976. "Details of the hearings will be announced in the near future."

"Completion of the hearings and subsequent approval of the hearing transcripts are tantamount to UMTA approval of award of the $15 million grant to Bi-State."

The agency recently completed purchase of 240 new buses and 100 passenger shelters, made possible by a 1974 federal grant.

"Receipt of the current $15 million grant will give Bi-State a total of 440 new buses, approximately half of the entire Bi-State bus fleet."

"The addition of 50 passenger shelters will mean that a total of 150 new passenger shelters will be added to those already available throughout the region for our passengers," Baer concluded.

Weather slows Broadway paving work at Venice

Due to cold weather, work on the Broadway relocation project in Venice has virtually stopped until spring, Arthur Kettner said.

"Due to cold weather, I do not think there will be much paving before spring," Kettnerhoffer reported.

"Concrete cannot be poured when the temperature is below 35 degrees, when the temperature starts dropping and goes under 40 degrees, or when the ground is frozen."

"Inasmuch as paving is a controlling item, working days will not be counted when the weather is not fit to pave."

The engineer reported that 54 per cent of the project is completed, with 89 per cent of the working days used.

"We in the city owe Kettnerhoffer a real debt, along with our attorney, Harry Hartman, Mayor William Ebersold said."

TRUCK BURGLARIZED
A hand-tooled leather case containing a .16 gauge shotgun, together with a wristwatch, an 8-track stereo tape player and 9 tapes were stolen from a truck belonging to Lloyd Weeks, 2708 Lincoln Ave., he reported last week. Officers elected during the group's 45th annual convention at Champaign last week also include Miss Ann Johnson of Granite City, physical education teacher, Stallings Elementary School, as vice president-elect and chairman for elementary programs.

The president-elect and vice president-elect will serve the organization for three years, becoming president and vice president for 1977 and past president and past vice president for 1978.

More than 2,000 researchers, coaches, teachers, professors and administrators registered for the group's 1975 convention.

Gateway unit to hear Supt. Edwin Benton

His topic at the breakfast meeting will be "The Trauma of Declining Enrollment in the Schools."

Meeting in executive session at 8:15 a.m. prior to the general meeting will be Dr. George T. Wilkins Sr., Granite City, president; Donald E. White, Highland, vice-president; James A. Ringhausen, Hardin, secretary; William O. Thomas, East St. Louis, treasurer; Duane E. Weber, Edwardsville, historian; and C. A. Henning, Troy, past president.

Chairmen of committees present will be Scott Randolph, East St. Louis, auditing; Enno Lietz, Staunton, Illinois Office of Education, ethics; Robert D. Car licenses on sale at 4 banks

Over-the-counter sale of 1976 passenger license plates in Illinois financial institutions began today, Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state, has announced.

A record 398 banks and savings and loan associations will participate in the program this year, along with 650 currency exchanges in the Chicago area. Included are the First National Bank in Madison, American National Bank of Granite City, First Granite City National Bank and the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank.

"During the last three years, we have substantially increased the number of banks authorized to sell passenger plates," Howlett noted.

Special license numbers mailed

First mailing of special requests for 1976 Bicentennial passenger license plates has started, Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett reports. A record total of 285,000 requests for specific license combinations was received, along with 855,000 reassignment applications.

Over 750,000 reassignment plates have been mailed and the remaining plates in this category are being sent daily. Howlett said, "The planned objective has been to have all passenger reassignments and special requests, along with motorcycle reassignments, mailed before the postage increase Dec. 28. This would save the state $25,000, and we are on schedule at present."

"Our office has been doing everything possible to accommodate the heavy volume of special requests received by the Sept. 30 deadline. However, requested combinations must be manufactured and available, and numbers previously issued are protected under the state statute of reassignment."

Display of 1976 plates on passenger vehicles began today.

"Last year, financial institutions sold over 2.2 million sets of plates, almost half the total sale, for an overall saving to taxpayers of more than a million dollars."

Howlett said plates also may be purchased over-the-counter at three Secretary of State Motor Vehicle facilities in Chicago, and at both the Centennial building and Dirksen Parkway facility drive-in windows in Springfield.

Notarization is not required for purchase of license plates. He re-emphasized that pre-printed renewal applications should be used when purchasing 1976 plates over-the-counter. These forms were mailed last summer to all registered car owners.

"We urge everyone to use his computer-printed form when buying license plates," Howlett added.

By attracting more banks to the program, plates have been made so easily available that no one in Illinois needs to drive more than 20 miles to purchase them, he concluded.
